

Takes High Social Rank

MISS MADELEINE FORCE, of New York, whose engagement to Colonel John Jacob Astor has been announced.

SOCIETY

VERY large and fashionable was the assemblage of smart society people that went to Orange for the horse show last week. Most of the country places near Orange entertained big house parties for the event, and several parties motored up from Richmond to attend the show. There was a big dance given in honor of guests from a distance, and numerous smaller affairs also took place at private houses. So many Virginia women ride their own horses that society is always unusually interested in the various horse shows given from time to time during the summer in Virginia and smart moters and fashionably groomed women are much in evidence at all of them.

With the arrival of August has come the real summer throng to the mountain resorts. This week the Virginia Bar Association will be in session at the Hot Springs, and the guests of that resort will include a long list of distinguished men from all parts of the country. Some of the Richmond people attending the meeting of the State Bar Association at the Hot Springs Tuesday will be: Judge and Mrs. Geo. L. Christian, General and Mrs. William Ruffin Cox, Mr. and Mrs. James Alston Cabell, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Walker, Mr. Holland, Miss Bessie Holland, J. Kent Hawley, Henry Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton and others.

Most of the Richmond people going to the Hot Springs will be the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs before returning to Richmond.

Camping Party. Miss Margaret Minor, of "Gale Hill," Albemarle county, who is entertaining a number of guests at a house party this month, is just now camping with her guests and a party of friends near Westover's Cave, near Janney, of Albemarle, in chaperoning the party, and they will remain at Westover's Cave for part of this week. Miss Minor spent some time in Richmond this summer as the guest of Miss Emily Royall, on West Franklin Street, and other friends in the city.

House Party at "Gasmont." "Gasmont," one of the handsomest country estates in Virginia, is the scene of a very charming house party this week. The place is the old Robb home near Port Royal, and a number of guests are entertained there every summer. Hosts, Wilby Beverley and Bernard Robb, of this city, are spending the week-end at "Gasmont."

Entertaining at the White. One of the most unique affairs ever given at the White Sulphur was the evening swimming pool party, the hostesses being Mrs. John Middleton, of New York, formerly of Baltimore, and Mrs. Connally Cox, of Richmond.

The pool was transformed into a Japanese garden, and the men and women enjoyed a swim, the more daring of the participants slipping mint juleps while floating peacefully about the pool. The moon was reflected in the water, for the place is open to the sky, and with the varicolored lanterns shining in the pool, the scene was a beautiful one. Later the guests adjourned to the hotel, where an elaborate summer was served in the cafe, the decorations there carrying out the al fresco effect, great numbers of maple leaves being used in decorating the table. After the supper, which was not served until midnight, the guests participated in an old-fashioned musical.

Mrs. Credella Miller, of Baltimore, is one of the belles of the springs, and is an enthusiast as well as an accomplished horsewoman, and never a day passes that she does not take a ride about the mountains.

Among the prominent Baltimore arrivals are: Mr. and Mrs. Eugene G. de Bullet, Mrs. J. Alfred Merritt, J. Wallace Bryan, James N. Gunn, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Symington and Mrs. Morris K. Wylie.

At the Warm Springs. Mrs. T. P. O'Connor, wife of the Irish member of Parliament, who is spending the summer at Warm Springs, where she is engaged on a new book, will be a prominent member of the winter colony in Washington next season.

On Northern Trip. Mrs. O'Connor, who is an exceedingly attractive and interesting personality, was formerly Miss Paschal, of San Antonio, and at the time of her marriage was considered the handsomest woman in the South.

Fondall Williams. Mrs. J. C. Williams and Miss Addie Carter Williams left the city Thursday of last week for an extended trip North. They will visit Washington, Buffalo and Niagara Falls and will also spend some time in Toronto, Canada.

Garden Party for Visitors. Mrs. W. H. Horton, of "Nestle Brooke Farm," near Roanoke, entertained at a charming garden party Tuesday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock in honor of her guests, Mrs. E. R. Chesterman, Miss Mary E. Frayser and Miss Elmore Chapin, of Richmond. The lawn surrounding Mrs. Horton's home was strung with many colored lanterns, and tables and chairs were arranged on the terraces of the garden. The end of the lower part of the house was banked with flowers, and the wide porches were also arranged with flowers and ferns. Mrs. Horton was assisted in receiving by her guests, Mrs. Chesterman, Misses Frayser and Chapin, Mrs. M. M. Caldwell, Miss Nell Stephenson, Mrs. Andrew L. Roberts, Mrs. Charles D. Fox and Mrs. C. W. Compton also assisted in receiving the guests.

Miss Virginia Caldwell and Miss Lucy Clayton, of Bedford City, were at the coffee table and Mrs. A. B. Coleman and Mrs. W. H. Tinsley, of Salem, presided at the punch bowl. Assisting in the dining room were Misses Emily Campbell, Guiselle Howles, of Salem; Mary and Julia Stone, of Bedford City; Rosalind Rankin, Bessie Moore, Virginia Buford, Edith Garthwright, of Vinton; Vernon Clayton and Helen Clayton.

Later in the evening Mrs. Horton entertained the younger society set at an informal dance. Supper was served at midnight.

At Otterburn Springs. Things have been very gay at the Otterburn Springs, in Amelia county, this past week, and a number of automobile parties have been entertained at the hotel besides any number of informal affairs given by the guests in honor of visitors. A very charming dinner was given in the ball room at the hotel on Thursday evening with a number of guests from a distance present.

Those dancing were: Misses Rose Southall, Ellen Hundley, Mary Moore, Jessie Palmer, Bessie Palmer, Rosalind Flournoy, Annie Rutherford, Gertrude Flournoy, Mrs. H. P. Berkley, Mrs. P. T. Southall, Miss Mabel Barnes and Miss Marcella Barnes; Messrs. Chas. Hundley, Guy Wooten, E. B. Potts, R. C. Jones, George K. Taylor, Jr., Joe Irving, H. P. Berkley, Foster Barnes, H. M. Jefferson, W. L. Mason, Jr., T. F. Mayo, Jr., M. E. Ruchmond, Charles Phillips, D. W. Bowles, Jr. and Charles F. Ruchmond, all of this city. The chaperons were Mrs. Joseph Stumpf and Mrs. N. S. Ancarrow.

One of the automobile parties from this city entertained at the hotel this week included P. L. Conquest, H. S. Hotchkiss, Charles Sickle, J. W. Fuller, Dr. Hillman, J. J. Pollard and C. F. Sauer.

Recent arrivals include Mrs. G. W. Mattox, Mrs. W. H. Atwell, of Petersburg; Miss Virginia Sutton, Miss
